Students,

Recent reports in The Chronicle are true -- Women's Basketball head coach Gail Goestenkers is currently visiting the University of Texas and considering leaving her position at Duke. She has been the backbone of the program since 1992 and raised it to national prominence--capping it off with this year's undefeated regular season. She is irreplaceable.

In order to show just how much we need Coach G and to recognize the incredible accomplishments of Duke Women's Basketball, there will be a a rally THURSDAY NIGHT at 7:30 in G-Opolis (aka K-Ville). Student Affairs is providing free pizza and much of the team will be there as well. Based on Coach G's travel and work schedule, she will be in her office at the time and will be able to see the rally.

If there was ever a time to turn out and show your support for Duke Basketball, this is it. Come out, bring your friends, make signs--do whatever you can to keep Coach G at Duke.
