

Marie Hicks

Ph.D. Candidate
Department of History
Duke University
Durham, NC USA

phone: (919) 597 8822
e-mail: meh20@duke.edu
<http://www.duke.edu/~meh20>

EDUCATION

History Department, Duke University, Durham, NC

- Ph.D. Candidate. Currently writing dissertation on office computerization in Britain, 1945-1975
- MA in History (2003) and Graduate Certificate in Women's Studies (2003)

Harvard University, Cambridge, MA (1996-2000)

- AB magna cum laude with Highest Honors in major, Modern European History

EXPERIENCE

Instructor, Science, Technology, and Society Program, North Carolina State University, Raleigh, NC (Fall 2007, Fall 2004)

Designed and taught class on automation and labor to 25 undergraduate students from a range of scientific disciplines under the Contemporary Science, Technology and Human Values requirement.

Instructor, History Department, Duke University, Durham, NC (Fall 2006)

Designed and taught undergraduate class cross-listed with Women's Studies, Sexuality Studies, and History on sexuality and politics.

Research Assistant, Sanford Institute of Public Policy, Duke University, Durham, NC (Spring 2006)

Assistant to Prof. Robert Korstad for a project on the history of Civil Rights in North Carolina.

Teaching Assistant, Women's Studies Program, Duke University, Durham, NC (Spring 2006)

For a course on gender and reproductive technology taught by Professor Kathy Rudy.

Historical Researcher and Policy Analyst, Duke Institute for Genomics Sciences and Policy, Center for Genome Ethics, Law and Policy, Duke University, Durham, NC (Summer 2005)

Participated in writing a technological, economic, and legal history of the Caltech sequenator.

Web Developer, History Department, Duke University, Durham, NC (Spring 2005)

Redesigned graduate section of departmental website. Enhanced content and trained graduate students to upload their professional information to the database.

Research Assistant/Faculty Liaison, History Department, Duke University, Durham, NC (2004)

Aided in redesigning department's graduate historical methodology class under the Carnegie Initiative on the Doctorate. Also supplied research for team-taught class on American legal and business history.

Teaching Assistant, History Department, Duke University, Durham, NC (Fall 2003)

Early modern European survey course taught by Prof. Thomas Robisheaux. Devised web media for class.

Department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science (EECS), Harvard University, Cambridge, MA (June 2002-August 2002 and May 2001-September 2001)

UNIX System Administrator. Supported the research environment for EECS professors by maintaining network and systems.

FELLOWSHIPS AND AWARDS

2007-2008	Women's Studies Dissertation Fellowship, Duke University
2006-2007	Bass Advanced Instructorship, Duke University
2006	National Science Foundation, Science and Society Dissertation Research Grant
2005	Charles Babbage Institute, University of Minnesota, Tomash Fellowship for History of Information Processing
2005	Duke University Graduate School International Research Travel Award
2004	Ernestine Friedl Research Award
2003	Anne Scott Award
2003	Duke University Graduate School Summer Award
2001-2005	James B. Duke Fellowship and Duke Endowment Fellowship for graduate study
1999	Radcliffe Traveling Fellowship
1997-2000	John Harvard Scholarship for Academic Achievement
1997-2000	Elizabeth Cary Agassiz Scholarship for Academic Achievement

PUBLICATIONS

Marie Hicks, "Integrating Women at Oxford and Harvard Universities, 1964-1977" in Yards and Gates: Gender in Harvard and Radcliffe History edited by Laurel Thatcher Ulrich (New York: Palgrave Macmillan, 2004).

CONFERENCE PAPERS AND PRESENTATIONS

American Historical Association Annual Meeting, Atlanta, GA, January 2007:
"Beyond Reading the Paper: Exploring New Presentation Formats" Panel

Computers in Use Conference, Center for the History of Science, Technology, and Medicine, University of Manchester, Manchester, UK, July 2006: "Categorizing machine operators in the mechanized office, 1950-1965"

Society for the History of Technology Annual Conference, Minneapolis, Minnesota, November 2005:
"Women's Work and the Computerization of British Offices after World War II"

Hagley Fellows Conference, Hagley Institute, Wilmington, Delaware, March 2005: "'Electronic Brains for the Office': Conceptions of British Business Computing, 1945-1965"

VISU Vienna Summer Institute Program on Mind and Computation, University of Vienna, July 2002: "Modernity Through Objects: British Office Technologies in Print Advertisements from 1935 to 1960"

History and Memory Conference, Harvard University History Department, April 2000: "Coeducation and the History of Women's Integration at Harvard"